

LINDE'S 4-HITTER FELLS STARS, 6-1

By MITCH ANGUS

The Hollywood Stars, swinging from the bootstraps pounded the night air almost exclusively last night at Lane Field as they went down to defeat before Lyman Lindo and his Padre cohorts, 6-1.

Lindo's four-hit fireballing, witnessed by 4051 fans, sent San Diego into a one-game jump as the Pacific Coast League Governor's Cup playoff series began.

The Stars, champions of regular season play, were ahead of the game only once. That was in the second inning when Herb Gorman, leading off, smacked one of Lindo's offerings high over the right-field barrier.

This roundtripper, however, was the only Hollywood hit for six innings. And, then the Stars finally threatened seriously in the seventh, Lyman was laboring with a 4-1 advantage.

San Diego settled the game as early as its half of the second when four singles drove Starter Maltzberger from the hill. Dain Clay, taking over in the outfield when the Stars refused to okay Allie Clark's appearance in Padre togs, started the big inning with a sharp drive through thru base.

Deo Moore and Whitey Wietelmann kept up the attack and Lindo contributed an important sacrifice. Bobby Wilson then clicked a handle shot past shortstop to complete the three-run flurry and send Maltzberger from the scene.

MAX POLES HOMER

To insure the victory margin when Lindo wobbled momentarily in the late going, Max West lined a seventh-inning homer over the right-field wall after Buster Adams walked. It was Max's 50th of the year and second in the playoffs. West's left-field double had led to San Diego's fourth marker in the fifth panel.

Lindo's only poor inning was the seventh when a walk to Gorman and singles by Chuck Stevens and Frank Kelleher filled the paths with none away. He was in the clear, however, when he captured Jim Baxes on a swinging third strike and worked Mike Sandlock into a double-play sizzler, capably converted by Wilson.

Year after year you can anticipate a dog-eat-dog fight for the National League pennant, and for the past two seasons, the title struggle has been just as bitter and tense in the American League.

Last year, as you may recall, Cleveland had to whip the Boston Red Sox in a playoff game before the Tribe could earn a berth in the World Series, and it took an amazing comeback by the New York Yankees in the final two days to decide this year's A.L. championship.

The result of the spine-tingling windup is that the Yankees open the Series against Brooklyn today minus an advantage they boasted going into most of their previous World Series.

The Bronx Bombers have won 16 pennants in 28 years, and usually the Yanks had the championship clinched several weeks or so before the end of the season. Thus, the Yanks had a chance to rest before going into the Series, while their National League foe staggered in after the customary last ditch battle.

New Yorkers Named Choices at 5-9

Plagued by injuries all season, and with Joe DiMaggio in weak condition after a virus infection, the Yankees enter the Fall classic at a definite disadvantage this time, for the opposing Dodgers are in tip-top shape.

ADAMS CLOUTS THREE

Padre Homers Ruin Hollywood, 8 to 5

By MITCH ANGUS

Four Padre home run blasts, three of them powered on consecutive trips by Buster Adams, shook the Hollywood Stars at Lane Field last night as San Diego roared to an 8-5 triumph. The success was the Padres' second straight in the Pacific Coast League Governor's Cup championship series and threatens a run-way over the startled Stars, regular season champions.

The Padres will try to make it three in a row tonight as they wind up the 1949 P.C.L. activity at Lane Field. Al Jurisich (14-11) will be the local hope, matched against Hollywood's knuckleball ace, Willie Ramadell (10-12).

After tonight, the best-of-seven series shifts to the Stars' home diamond for as many games as are needed.

MINOSO HELPS OUT

Adams' superb slugging last night provided ample entertainment for 6731 customers. Buster, matching Max West's early-season performance, hit for the circuit on consecutive trips against Pinky Woods in the fourth and fifth and Southpaw Art Schallock in the seventh.

Oddly enough, the bases were unpopulated as each drive settled into the left-field bleachers. As a result, Adams' tremendous effort was matched in the run-battled-in column by Orestes Minoso, who slammed one of Woods' offerings over the left-field barrier in the fifth after Whitey Wietelmann and Bobby Wilson had hit safely.

FLORES AILING

While the Padres were driving Woods, a 24-game winner, to shelter with a five-run fifth, Jess Flores picked up his 23rd decision of the year. The busy senior, however, wasn't around at the end, having relinquished the controls to Bob Savage when a side pain became too severe after the seventh round.

Until that time, Flores had been rapped for 10 hits but had limited Hollywood's run production to two. The Hancymen offered a real threat in the eighth when Jim Baxes homered for two runs and Savage contributed a third by walking Mike Sandlock, eventually sending him home with a balk.

Walt Faulkner Scores Victory In Grand Prix

Walt Faulkner, the "little dynamo" of midget racing fame, climaxed another local racing season last night before 12,512 fans in Balboa Stadium when he romped home winner in the 100-lap Grand Prix.

The popular little San Diegoan took the lead on the first turn, and hung on to turn in a narrow, ear-length victory over Norm Holtkamp, his teammate in the Al Dean racing stable. Billy Vukovich, the Fresno flash finished third. Bill Cantrell wound up fourth, and Harry Stockman was fifth.

BETS BLISTERING PACE

After taking the lead on the first trip around the quarter-mile oval, Faulkner set a blistering pace. Stockman, Cantrell, Perry Grimm and Vukovich lined up behind in that order after five laps.

There were no position changes until the 11th lap, when Vukovich pushed by Cantrell to take over the fourth spot. Vukovich then re-

Ramsdell's Knuckling Hands Twinks First Series Win

Hollywood's Stars, after two nights of meek submission to San Diego's slugging power, turned on their tormentors as Willie Ramsdell shackled the Padres last night with a fancy nine-hit job to give the visitors a 6-4 victory before 8783 Lane Field spectators.

In complete command most of the way with his plate-nicking knuckleball, and registering seven strikeouts, Ramsdell had to throttle a promising ninth-inning rally by the locals before Hollywood earned its first triumph in the Coast League's playoff championships. The clubs resume the series at Hollywood's Gilmore Field tonight, with San Diego holding a 2-1 edge.

SCORE THREE IN SEVENTH

A three-run splash in the seventh inning against Starter Al Jurisich led the verdict for the invaders, and they tacked on an insurance marker off Relief Hurler Junior Thompson in the ninth.

Orestes Minozo's two-run homer in the eighth, a cheer-inspiring blast into the center-field bleachers, marked Ramsdell's showiest moment, and he wilted for three consecutive singles in the ninth before a double play ensnared him out of trouble.

STARS ROOST LEAD

Max West, after gaining a base on balls and stealing second, scored on two straight wild pitches to give San Diego a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning, but Hollywood forged in front in the fifth as Irv Noren's double chased Ramsdell and Gene Handley across the plate.

In the seventh the Stars moved into a 5-1 bulge as walks to George Genovese and Noren, Handley's blooper double and singles by Herb Gorman and Chuck Stevens produced three markers.

After Steven Mosner, pinch-hitting for Jurisich, had opened the eighth with an infield safety, Minozo revived San Diego hopes by belting one of Ramsdell's knucklers 400 feet into the center-field stands.

Handley, after working Thompson for a walk, notched Hollywood's sixth tally in the ninth as Koren tripled, but Koren was called out for failure to touch second, and that uprising ended.

Harvey Storey, Dain Clay and Dee Moore greeted Ramsdell with successive singles for San Diego's fourth run in the last of the ninth, but the rally died as Whitely Weltelmann, after two futile bunting efforts, grounded into a double play, and Pinch-hitter Al Rosen flew out to Noren for the final out.

Glenn Moulder (14-9) will pitch for Hollywood tonight against San Diego's Red Adams (8-8).

"I was somewhat overjoyed to find in your letters column that Frankie Galindo knocks the chip off my shoulder and gives me a very rugged first round about who is the best scrapper produced locally—Johnny 'The Bandit' Romero or Irish Bob Murphy.

"I can see Frankie is a difficult guy to argue with and I do not see why I do not draw a softer touch. This all started because I am in a very low frame of mind about how boxing has gone to the dogs around here lately. I think I am the only boxing fan left and all the rest of you guys are tennis players. But I am feeling a little better now that you have popped up, Frankie, so I will give you the lowdown.

I will not mention any names, Frankie, but this fighter wears a green bathrobe with a shamrock on the back. 2—The Disabled American Veterans take over the promotion of boxing in San Diego. Now, a guy cannot get into this lodge unless he has really been shelled. So if this combination does not produce good fight that will pack 'em in like the old days, Frankie, you and me better go away and let the tennis players have it.

Four-Run First Turns Trick; Barrett Seeks Third Tonight

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7 (Special)—The San Diego Padres blew a three-run first-inning lead tonight and lost a 7-4 decision to the Hollywood Stars and with it their edge in the Pacific Coast League Governor's Cup playoff series. The Star success squandered the playoffs at two games each.

The Padres rushed for a victory in the opening round when Bobby Wilson lit their big scoring spree of the game. He greeted Hollywood's Glenn Moulder with a single and Orestes Minoso was safe on an error. After Buster Adams sacrificed both runners along, Max West drew an intentional pass to load the bases.

CLAY CONNECTS

Harvey Storey's outfield fly scored Wilson and Dain Clay singled through the middle to score both Minoso and West.

This seemingly handsome 3-0 lead, however, wilted in the Hollywood half of the first inning. The Stars nalled San Diego's starter, Red Adams, for four runs on as many hits in their half to take a lead they never relinquished. Adams was retired for a pinch-hitter in the Padre half of the second and was charged with the setback.

PATRONS SHIVER

The game was played in a biting wind before 3491 shivering patrons. The breeze played strange tricks with high fly balls and at least six easy outs went for extra bases.

George Genovese and Herb Gorman rapped triples to lead Hollywood's 15-hit attack while Buster Adams rapped a three-bagger for San Diego.

Jack Salvason, who took over in the third, was credited with the victory although he needed help of Jean Pierre Roy when the Padres threatened in the late going.

Is this year's San Diego State College football team better than the one fielded last year by Coach Bill Schutte?

On paper, the Aztecs appear more powerful and versatile than their predecessors, but the question mark is still there, particularly so after the Staters barely squeezed by Pepperdine, 9-7, in their opener last Saturday.

Tonight, climaxing a week of stiff offensive drills designed to plug the gaps revealed by the Pepperdine contest, Schutte's brawny gents make their local debut against Pomona's Sagehens in Aztec Bowl.

The result of this pigskin frolic should provide the tip-off on State's capabilities, and at the same time, a loss to Pomona would leave Aztec supporters crooning one of the sports world's most popular laments, "Walt 'Til Next Year."

Pomona is a member of the Southern California Inter-Collegiate Conference, whereas State is a member of the California Collegiate Athletic Association, and it is generally agreed that the C.C.A.A. is a stronger circuit than the S.C.I.C., all of which must force you to establish the Aztecs as favorites in tonight's encounter.

Hoover's Johnny McColl Returns With Pomona

However, it would be foolhardy to assume that the Sagehens will be pushovers for the Aztecs, for Pomona has a very resourceful coach in Earl "Fuzz" Merritt, and secondly, the Sagehens have one of the finest backs on the Coast, a Hoover High product named Johnny McColl.

Johnny, brother of Stanford's great end, Bill McColl, was an all-Conference quarterback last season and also earned honorable mention on The Associated Press all-Coast team. Another Sagehen ball-packing standout is Lloyd Herbener, halfback who scored two touchdowns

Padres and Fans Want Bucky Harris 1

Bucky Harris

SAN DIEGO, Calif.

San Diego baseball fans took to the Coast League Governors' Cup playoffs for the J. G. Taylor Spink Trophy like a duck takes to water—they loved 'em.

Slightly more than 39,000 customers turned out for the six days the Padres appeared in games with Oakland and Hollywood, this city outdrawing others in the playoffs by far. It was hard to determine whether the "newness" of the playoffs here or the caliber of the teams competing proved the big drawing card. San Diego was in the playoffs for the first time since 1942.

Naturally, San Diegans were disappointed because the Padres lost to Hollollywood, but they still figure it's the start of a new deal—a winning one.

One and all, the fans agreed the Cleveland working agreement was a great success and resulted in the Padres making the first division for a change. Of course, it was cheering to Bill Starr, president of the club, who had worked hard since taking over the Padres with his associates in 1945 to turn out a winner.

Start of Long Cleveland Friendship

Although beaten in the playoffs, the Padres did remarkably well in 1949 in the face of a shaky pitching staff, no topnotch shortstop and not enough left-handed batters. Many compliments were handed to Bucky Harris for the marvelous job he did in managing the Padres into the first division.

The fans and Starr want Harris back, but only time will provide the answer. He wants to go back to the majors, either as a member or in a front office capacity, but if he doesn't he's certain to continue as the Padres' skipper.

Starr has revealed the working agreement with the Inc. renewed, even if Bill Ve out. In letters to local Greenberg, vice-president and director of their fan "I hope this year is the friendship between the Cleveland club."

Starr always had be working with a major i fore this year, but no have it any other way.

"The independent club unless it ties up with outfit," Starr said. "I change my mind when writing on the wall."

The Padres improved fourth spot this year and materialize they'll go a season. He will can a winner on the field nor that's done the fans. the playoffs, the Padres 533,000 at home in 1949.

ured the final series, October 9, with a fourth straight victory. The playoff title climaxed the Stars' best season in the last 18 years, if not in all Hollywood history.

By copping the playoffs, the Twinks pocketed their second $15,000 player prize, having earned a similar amount by virtue of winning the pennant. In addition to the $30,000 pool, the players received their regular salaries during the playoffs.

Hollywood's sweep of both the pennant race and playoffs duplicated the feat achieved by Oakland under Casey Stengel last year and by Los Angeles in 1947 and San Francisco the previous season.

Padres Copped First Two

After beating Oakland in a seven-game semi-final series, the Padres, under Bucky Harris, marched through the first two contests of the finals with Hollywood and appeared to be a team of destiny. During the regular season, San Diego had tied Seattle for fourth place on the final day of the season and then won out in a special playoff.

The Stars, however, rebounded to sweep the final four games and the title. Willard Ramsdell, author of the flag-clinching victory and winner in the deciding game of the semi-finals against Sacramento, was Hollywood's mound bulwark. He stopped the San Diego surge to win the third game and then, with only two days' rest, came back to annex the final tilt.

Fourth Straight Win Over S. D.,
8-4, Winds Up P.C.L. Season

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9 (Special).--The Hollywood Stars, bouncing back like the champions they are yesterday smashed to the Pacific League Governor's Cup by whipping the San Diego Padres, 8-4. The triumph, before a scant gathering of 2730 in Gilmore Field, abruptly closed the playoff series with the Stars a 4-game-to-2

HARRIS STILL ON THE LIMB

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9 (Special).--Bucky Harris planned to head for his Washington home this week but the Padre manager wouldn't say whether he'd do any major league job-hunting on the way. The baseball liberals, however, think he will.

Bucky, already invited to manage the Padres again in 1930, has delayed an answer. He has been mentioned as a leading candidate for several managerial jobs, including Washington and the Chicago White Sox.

Rams, Paced By Waterfield, Smash Bears

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (NS) -- The undefeated Los Angeles Rams took over sole possession of first place in the National League's Western Division today with a 31-16 victory over the Chicago Bears.

The Rams overcame a 13-point lead on the passes of Bob Waterfield and actually exhausted the mammoth Bear line to the surprise of 42,124 fans.

Waterfield got Los Angeles off

$15,000 TO WINNERS

The Stars, winners of the regular season--and official--P.C.L. championship, had to cool off a red-hot Padre team to collect $15,000 loot to split up on the squad. For finishing as runners-up, the Padres will divide $10,000.

San Diego, after capturing fourth place in a playoff with Seattle, had ripped past Oakland in the Cup semi-finals and captured two in a row from Hollywood. Then the Stars came back to win four in a row, climaxing it with Knuckleballer Willie Ramsdell's conquest today.

BIG FOURTH FRAME

For three innings it was a 1-1 game today with homers by Hollywood's Gene Handley and San Diego's Orestes Minozo accounting for the runs. Then the Stars fell on Lyman Lunde for four runs in the fourth. Mike Sandlock drove in two and Lunde hurt himself with untimely walks.

Frank Kelleher clinched it for Hollywood in the fifth with a two-run homer.

The Padres gained one back in the sixth when Buster Adams homered and threatened in the ninth when they loaded the paths again.

ROSEN COMES THROUGH

Al Rosen, making his first appearance in the final playoff after being sidelined with a leg injury, pinch-hit two runs home and Bobby Wilson singled to load the paths again.

It was over a moment later, however, when Minozo tapped
